Founder Shintaro Oka

It has been said, since a long time, that there is a necessity from Japanese people to internationalize. However, compared to other countries, Japan is still far from the internationalization. The reason might be because Japanese domestic companies have been able to survive inside their own country by their own local rules, without the necessity of going overseas. Now we are entering into the globalization era. The need of internationalization for Japan will be increasing in the future. Thereupon, we are planning to play a key-role being the link between Japan and the world. Starting from ASEAN countries, including Thailand, we would like to suggest new lifestyles, value creations and also give a contribution to improve people's lives. Our mission is to offer products and services to achieve a better life, and to meet the expectations of all customers.
